PROFILE

I am a motivated and detail-oriented Web Developer with hands-on experience in building responsive websites using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. While I may not yet have experience with enterprise-level Content Management Systems (CMS), I am eager to learn and adapt quickly to new technologies. My background in collaborating with design teams, coupled with my strong organizational skills, ensures that I can effectively contribute to web development projects. I am passionate about digital marketing, web design, and creating seamless user experiences, and I am excited about the opportunity to grow and succeed at Bloomingdale's.
